Thorough Discussion Of Succession Bill Expected in Senate

The fast pace set by the House is shoving through legislation to make its presiding officer next in line for the presidency is due for a Senate

This was plain today because of Senate preoccupation with interna-tional relations and a disposition to study out the succession problem thoroughly.

Lusty cheers for veteran Speaker Rayburn accompanied House voice approval late yesterday of the measure to make Mr. Rayburn the designated successor of President Truman. Under present law it is the Secretary of State, but only 10 days earlier Mr. Truman asked Congress to put the Speaker ahead.

Some Senators Oppose Idea. Some Senate Democrats are reported cool to the idea for fear a Republican victory in the 1946 conressional elections could have a Republican become House presiding officer with first claim to the presidency in event Mr. Truman did not serve out his term.

The ranking member of the Elections Committee, Senator Bridges, Republican, of New Hampshire, has called for prompt action before President Truman leaves for the Big Three meeting in Germany. Senator Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland favors the plan but says it should be considered carefully.

Hope for Summer Vacation, However, the Senate is prepared to put everything aside during consideration of the United Nations Charter and hopes after ratification that members can get away for delayed summer vacations.

The House-approved proposal puts the Speaker ahead of cabinet members in case the country is left without a President or Vice President Mr. Truman asked that the Speaker serve only until a special presidential election could be held. But the House voted against that, contending such a proviso would violate the constitutional requirement that a President be elected for four years.
